SECTION 100
ROLE AND SCOPE STATEMENTS

100  APPROVALS REQUIRED

Role, scope, criteria, standards and procedures documents shall be approved by the department faculty, department head, the college review committee, the college dean, the UPT Committee, and the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs. [FH 622.]

110  UNIVERSITY ROLE AND SCOPE

Montana State University-Bozeman is committed to "undergraduate and graduate education, research of both a basic and applied nature, and professional and public service to the state, region and nation." (MSU Role and Scope Statement, 1990.) [See FH 100.00.] Faculty dedicated to this mission produce substantial benefits for society, including advances in fundamental and applied knowledge, technological innovation, new aesthetic experiences, improved health and well-being, and a broadly educated citizenry. Outreach is a fundamental component of this mission and is affirmed as an appropriate and laudable faculty activity. [FH 603.00]

Each department and college shall develop and annually update a document describing its role and scope, defining its responsibilities and obligations in furtherance of the mission of the University, and setting forth the criteria, standards and procedures for review of faculty members. If the document is not updated annually, the last updated and approved document shall be effective. [FH 620.00]

111  COLLEGE AND DEPARTMENT ROLE AND SCOPE STATEMENTS

112  ROLE AND SCOPE

112.1  Role and Scope of the College.

Service is one of the three essential obligations of land grant universities. At Montana State University-Bozeman, the Extension Service is a primary provider of problem-focused instruction and technical assistance to citizens across the state. Educational activities conducted by the Extension Service do not lead toward degrees and serve persons of all ages.

Educational activities conducted by the Extension Service are focused within four primary categories. These activities are designed to:

1. Help agricultural producers, resource managers, agribusiness managers, financial lenders and others to become more productive;

2. Assist individuals and families to improve their quality of life through increased economic and social stability, better nutrition and health levels, and enhanced management skills;
3. Teach youth through 4-H learn-by-doing projects and activities that will enable them to establish life goals and become productive citizens; and

4. Educate people in processes useful in arriving at public decisions that will enhance community economic and social well-being.

Extension Service instructional staff include county and reservation-based faculty (extension agents) who plan and conduct instruction focused upon local needs and campus-based specialists who are subject-specific resources to agents. Both agents and specialists are members of the Montana State University-Bozeman faculty.

Agents are included within the Extension Service's Field Staff, accountable to the Director of Extension.

Most Extension specialists are faculty within academic departments, accountable to their respective department heads. Exceptions to departmentalized Extension specialists are the 4-H youth development faculty, who are organized within an Extension Program of 4-H Youth Development.

Additional Extension specialists such as forestry specialists, computer applications specialists, etc. report directly to the Dean for Outreach.

A. Role and Scope of the Field Faculty Program

The Field Faculty Program is responsible for developing and delivering educational programs and technical assistance to communities across Montana in the four primary areas of endeavor described in 112.1. Program content is determined primarily by local needs and guided by advisory committees and county commissions or tribal councils. Emphases typically include agriculture, consumer and family education, 4-H youth development, and community enhancement. Trained volunteers contribute significantly to field programs.

B. Role and Scope of the 4-H Youth Development Program

The 4-H Youth Development Program is responsible for providing leadership to Montana's largest out-of-school youth education program. Its purpose is to prepare youth and adults for living in a global society. 4-H specialists are teaching resources for approximately 90 county Extension agents and 4500 adult volunteer leaders who serve as teachers to the estimated 30,000 enrolled youth who live across the state. These teachers deliver a curriculum which is planned and directed by the program faculty. The curriculum enhances five critical skills:

- Fostering positive self-concept
- Learning decision-making and responsibility for choices
- Developing an inquiring mind
- Relating to self and others
- Acquiring a concern for communities -- local and global

113  ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

113.1 Academic Programs of the College

The Extension Service offers no academic programs per se. Extension programs are non-formal (e.g., they do not lead to academic degrees) and are designed to address day-to-day needs of Montana citizens and communities. Extension offers educational programs in the four areas identified above under "Role and Scope."

A. Field Faculty

The Field Faculty includes community-based educators located in counties and tribal reservations across the state. Programming is determined by local needs, developed through consensus among local elected officials, advisory groups, and volunteers, within the four general areas identified in 112.1 above.

B. 4-H Youth Development

4-H Youth Development offers no academic programs per se. Rather, its educational programs are non-formal, out-of-school activities of two types: development of "hands on" learning for youth and educating adult volunteers who serve as 4-H activity leaders.

A. Field Faculty

Extension field faculty, to be effective, must become involved in their respective communities through civic and voluntary associations. Once established in their community-based roles, it is expected that most field faculty also will choose to participate selectively in University committees.
and professional activities.

B. 4-H Youth Development

4-H Youth Development specialists are expected to serve on appropriate University committees as well as engage in statewide, regional and national activities which address any of the following issues:

1. Youth and Adult Development
2. Learning Strategies for Youth Development
3. Organizational Systems for Youth Development
4. Partnerships for Youth Development

SECTION 200

CRITERIA AND STANDARDS

"Criteria" are the variables examined in an evaluation. "Standards" are the levels or degrees of performance which measure success in meeting criteria. [FH 602.00]

200 CRITERIA FOR THE FORMAL REVIEW OF FACULTY PERFORMANCE

Montana State University-Bozeman is served by a faculty with a wide range of skills, interests, and responsibilities. Thus, different faculty members may have very different expectations in terms of teaching, research/creative activity and service. The Criteria and Standards portion of this document (FH 630.00 to 636.00) carries forth this principle by distinguishing two general categories of academic faculty, designated as those with "instructional" expectations and those with "professional practice" expectations. Each faculty member's letter of hire will specify which category of expectations apply.

Differences in expectations [must] be recognized, valued and respected at all levels during the review of faculty performance. Faculty review must take into account the resources available to accomplish the faculty member's assignment including release time for scholarly activities, library support, and the availability of computing facilities and technical support staff. As an integral part of their assignments, faculty may be expected to seek available extramural funds, appropriate to their field of study. [FH 603.03]

210 UNIVERSITY CRITERIA

The University criteria on which faculty performance will be reviewed are teaching, research, and service.

211 TEACHING CRITERIA

211.1 University Teaching Criteria

Teaching, the imparting of knowledge, skills, and abilities to learners, is the heart of the University's mission. Faculty performance in teaching must be evaluated in terms of a wide range of criteria including course content and objectives, classroom effectiveness, student learning and achievement and student advising. This document challenges faculty and administrators to adopt rigorous strategies for the assessment of teaching performance, including peer, student and self-evaluations. [FH 602.03]

211.2 College Teaching Criteria

Demonstrated evidence of sustained performance as an educator in planning and implementing educational programs which focus on the accomplishment of specific goals and documented by evaluations by constituents and peers.

Types of instruction include:
1. Group instruction through workshops, seminars, and classes. Methods of evaluation include participant responses using MSU Extension instructor evaluation forms supplemented by other appropriate program-specific evaluation strategies.

2. One-on-one instruction through personal visits, telephone conferences, and other contacts with constituents. Methods of evaluation include faculty-initiated documentation of constituent satisfaction and program-specific evaluation strategies.

3. Curriculum and program development with peers and constituents. Methods of evaluation include faculty-initiated documentation, observations by supervisors, and, when tenure decisions are made, from three out-of-state peers.

4. Design and development of instructional materials. Methods of evaluation include documentation submitted by faculty themselves, supervisor observations, and, when tenure decisions are made, from three out-of-state peers.

   A. Field Faculty

   All of the College Teaching Criteria pertain to Field Staff.

   B. 4-H Youth Development

   In addition to the criteria mentioned above, the 4-H Youth Development faculty practices a teach-the-teacher model with county Extension agents and volunteer leaders. Evaluation of this approach is measured by replication or adoption of the instructional method by agents and volunteers when working with other adults or with youth audiences. Learning situations are conducted so principles are learned by discovery, experimentation, and exploration. Specific hands-on activities are planned for application of new knowledge.

211.3 Department Teaching Criteria

N/A

212 RESEARCH CRITERIA

212.1 University Research Criteria

Research and creative activity, the means through which society increases its understanding of the natural world and the human condition, is a fundamental responsibility of the University community. In submitting documentation for tenure and promotion, faculty are expected to submit for review their scholarly works which have advanced their discipline or profession. [FH 602.03]

212.2 College Research Criteria

The College does not assign this responsibility to the Extension field faculty.

212.3 Department Research Criteria

N/A
213 OUTREACH/PUBLIC SERVICE CRITERIA

213.1 University Criteria

Outreach and public service, the strategies through which the practical impacts of scholarship are made available to the state and nation, are essential to the University's Land Grant mission. This document calls upon faculty and their departments to revitalize their commitments to outreach and public service and challenges them to reward effectiveness and excellence in these activities. Departments and colleges shall establish procedures, criteria and standards for the evaluation of service, outreach, and consulting activities submitted for faculty review. [602.03]

213.2 College Criteria

Since the Extension Service is an outreach and service function, virtually all teaching and creative activity conducted by Extension faculty take place within this context. Extension faculty are encouraged to serve on and provide leadership to professional, community and University committees and boards that draw upon their specific knowledge and skills.

A. Field Faculty

Same as above.

B. 4-H Youth Development

The 4-H Youth Development Program expects its faculty to serve on national, regional, and state committees that relate to the program specialties identified in section 115.2.

213.3 Department Criteria

N/A
“Effectiveness” means meeting or exceeding the standards of the department and college, discipline or profession as appropriate for the individual’s assignment. “Excellence” means achieving substantial recognition from students, clients, colleagues, and/or peers in the profession, appropriate to the activity. [FH 602.00]

220 GENERAL UNIVERSITY STANDARDS

The University standards on which faculty performance will be reviewed are effectiveness and excellence.

Sustained effectiveness in all areas of a faculty member’s assignment is a University-wide requirement for retention, tenure and promotion. [FH 603.04]

In addition, the promise of excellence is required for tenure and promotion to Associate Professor rank; a record of excellence is required for promotion to Professor rank. [FH 603.04]

The University criteria and standards defined herein are the minimum acceptable standards for the university; departments and colleges are expected to develop criteria and standards based on, and no less rigorous than, those described herein. [FH 622.00]

Each faculty member must meet the following University-wide standards for appointment, retention, tenure, and promotion as well as the standards of her or his department and college. [FH 633.00]

220.1 Standards for Faculty with Instructional Expectations

Faculty with instructional expectations will advance the teaching, research/creative activity, and service missions of the University. [FH 632.00]

220.2 Standards for Faculty with Professional Practice Expectations

Faculty with professional practice expectations will advance the mission of their departments through activities appropriate to their specific assignments. [FH 632.00]

221 EFFECTIVENESS IN TEACHING

221.1 University Standard of Effectiveness in Teaching

Faculty performance in teaching will be judged effective if it meets or exceeds the standards of the candidate’s department and college. [FH 633.01]

221.2 College Standard(s) of Effectiveness in Teaching

Extension Service field faculty and 4-H Youth Development specialists hold professional practice appointments. Effective teaching and creative activity to enrich teaching are essential for retention and tenure. Teaching typically includes four types of activities: (1) group instruction; (2) one-to-one instruction; (3) curriculum and program development; and (4) design and development of instructional materials.
Teaching effectiveness is determined by constituent satisfaction, assessment by supervisors, and reviews by professional peers. Constituent satisfaction is assessed using Extension Service instructor evaluation forms when group instruction occurs, testimonials solicited by faculty and supervisors, and impact data collected for specific programs.

Tenure and promotion decisions include reviews by three out-of-state professional peers. These reviews include in-depth assessments of documentation submitted for teaching effectiveness as well as assessments of programs designed, instructional materials developed, and curricula designed.

To be determined as effective in teaching, Extension Service faculty must demonstrate consistent achievement in the four areas defined above, documented by evidence of constituent satisfaction and program impact.

A. Field Faculty

   Same as above.

B. 4-H Youth Development

   The 4-H faculty have two primary client groups: county Extension agents and volunteer adult leaders who serve as instructors for 4-H youth. Effective teaching thereby is determined by:

   1. Average or above average ratings using instructor evaluation forms completed by constituent groups. (Categories include Superior, Above Average, Average, Below Average, Poor.) Evaluation instruments will be specifically designed for the type of activity or instruction and may include written or oral documentation.

   2. Documented use of curriculum, programs, and/or instructional materials by constituent groups.

The amount of creditable prior service is determined at the time of initial appointment and must be confirmed in writing by the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs.

A faculty member’s tenure review scheduled for the sixth year may be extended for good cause under exigent circumstances upon the approval of the faculty member’s department head, college dean, and Provost. SECTION 400

PROCEDURES FOR FORMAL REVIEW OF FACULTY PERFORMANCE

“Substantive review” means an assessment of the merit of a candidate’s dossier in terms of the department, college, and University-wide criteria and standards appropriate to the type of review. [FH 802.00]

400 GENERAL PROCEDURES

The review of individual faculty [for retention, tenure, and promotion] is initiated at the department level, where the relevant disciplinary expertise is located, and is then carried to the college and University levels, where successively broader perspectives are employed. [FH 603.05]

401 REVIEW BASED ON EVALUATION OF TOTAL PERFORMANCE

Third year, tenure and promotion reviews are based upon cumulative performance in each area (teaching, research/creative activity, and service) over the total period preceding review. In contrast, annual reviews assess the faculty member’s performance averaged over all areas within a year. Thus, a record of having met performance expectations as indicated by Annual Reviews does not necessarily guarantee the candidate has assembled and demonstrated a cumulative record that meets the standards for retention, tenure or promotion. [FH 611.00]

402 MANDATED CONTENTS OF DOCUMENTS

The criteria, standards and procedures documents of the department and college shall, at a minimum, contain the following information:

A. The criteria and standards used to assess faculty members' contributions to the role of the department and evaluate their performance in their assigned responsibilities and in teaching, research/creative activity, and service, according to the type and level of review. (See Section 200 above.)

B. Any quantitative and qualitative expectations in terms of job performance, teaching, research/creative activity, and/or service. (See Section 300 above.)

C. The procedures used in selecting the membership of [college and/or department] review committees. (See Sections 413.1 and 415.1 below.)

D. The department's designation as to courses and presentations which are to be evaluated using student evaluation forms and the evaluation instruments to be used. (See 241 above.)

E. A description of the methods, in addition to student evaluations, to be used to obtain formal, in-depth assessment of a faculty member's teaching performance. (See 241 above.)

F. The type of materials accepted or required in the documentation of research and creative activities and of outreach and public service. (See 242 above.)

G. The dates and times of review. (See 412 below.)
H. The procedures for obtaining outside peer reviews and soliciting internal letters of support/evaluation. (See 243. above and 415.3 below.)

I. The methods for designating and handling confidential materials. [See 415.2 below.] [FH 623.00]

410 PROCEDURES FOR THE CONDUCT OF FORMAL REVIEWS OF FACULTY

The formal review of academic faculty supports the mission and goals of Montana State University-Bozeman and assists faculty in meeting the expectations of the institution. Formal review for retention, tenure and promotion shall be conducted according to the procedures outlined in this section.
